The latest news on what's powering our neighborhoods

Let the savings shine this summer with rebates from PSE

When taking on seasonal home maintenance tasks or home updates, remember that we offer a variety of rebates to beautify your home and increase comfort, all while saving you money. Let the light shine with LED indoor, outdoor and shop light fixtures, choose ENERGY STAR® rated washers and dryers and save big when you exceed energy code on your remodel or replace your water heater.

See how much you can save at pse.com/rebates.

Pipeline and power line maintenance resumes using protective health measures

With Governor Inslee's phased reopening of select aspects of our community and economy, you'll see PSE and its contractors resume work to keep our gas and electric systems operating safely and reliably. For everyone's safety, our workers are wearing masks, practicing social distancing and taking other precautions. We ask you to do the same. Working together, we can help prevent the spread of the virus.

Stay clear of overhead power lines

With summer weather comes home improvement projects that may bring ladders and tools close to overhead power lines. Be sure to look up and around you before you start any work. Keep all objects, including yourself, at least 10 feet from any overhead line. Accidental contact, or even coming too close, can cause an arc flash that can result in serious injury.

Safety tip: Smell gas? Leave, then call 911 or PSE

Natural gas, which is primarily methane, is colorless and odorless in its natural state. An odorant called mercaptan is added to give it a sulfur or rotten egg smell to help detect a leak. Flipping a light switch or ringing a doorbell could ignite natural gas if there's a leak, so don't take chances. If you suspect that there's a natural gas leak, leave the area then call us at 1-888-225-5773, TTY: 1-800-962-9488, or call 911.
